HONEYMOON JET SKI DEATH

Tributes to estate agent, 39, killed in freak accident

Newlywed: Jeremy Hope; and his company Saxon Kings, below

NEWS EDITOR

ROSS LOGAN

ross.logan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Colleagues and friends have paid tribute to the founder of a Kingston estate agents, who died in a freak jet skiing accident just two days into his honeymoon.

Jeremy Hope, 39, who founded Saxon Kings estate agents, died hours after his jet ski collided with a friend's off the coast of the Greek island of Santorini on Wednesday, September 17.

He had married his long term girlfriend Sarah Greaves, 31, on the island just two days previously.

In a statement, Mr Hope's colleagues at Saxon Kings, based in Park Road, said: "It is with huge regret that Saxon Kings has to announce that their founding partner, Jeremy Hope, has died suddenly.

"The entire team at Saxon Kings have greatly appreciated the many messages of support at this difficult time.

"Saxon Kings values every client and are doing everything to ensure that the business Jeremy did so much to build up will continue to offer the excellent service which it is so well known for in the area."

Saxon Kings was launched in 2006 as an online estate agents, before opening its first premises in 2012.

Canbury ward Councillor Andrea Craig knew Mr Hope and his wife, who lived together in Worcester Park.

She said: "They set up the company before they opened in Kingston.

"They were very community minded - they sponsored King Athelstan School [in Villiers Road].

"Even though they did not live in Kingston, they were very much about being part of the community. They are a lovely couple who have been together for years.

"I was very sad to hear the news. I only bumped into them a few weeks ago, and they told me they were getting married. I said we should meet up after they got back from honeymoon."

According to reports, Mr Hope's jet ski collided with his friend Peter Hudson's.

Mr Hope initially appeared unhurt, and went back to sunbathe with his new wife.

But he fell ill, and was being airlifted to a hospital in Crete when he died in the helicopter.

Mr Hudson, and jet ski rental owner Yannis Kostopoulos, were arrested on suspicion of negligent manslaughter.

Both have since been released pending an investigation into the crash by Greek authorities.

Hats thrown into ring for Tudor byelection

CHIEF REPORTER
NAZIA DEWJI

A school governor and a former teacher are among the candidates announced for Kingston's upcoming byelection in Tudor ward.

Green campaigner Marilyn Mason, who once taught Education Secretary Nicky Morgan at Surbiton High School, has been chosen as the Liberal Democrat candidate, fighting for the seat vacated by Conservative councillor Frank Thompson.

Mr Thompson was forced to step down after 12 years due to ill health, it was announced earlier this month.

Mrs Mason, of Lower Ham Road, Kingston, said: "I have lived in Tudor ward since 1998 and I am standing in this election because our area needs a councillor who will put the environment at the heart of everything."

Tudor ward has been a Conservative stronghold for more than 24 years and whoever wins next month's election will join Tory councillors David Cunningham and Hugh Scantlebury as ward representative.

St Luke's School governor Maria Netley, a Tudor ward resident for 15 years, has been chosen as the Conservative candidate.

Coun Cunningham said: "We are sorry to have lost Frank, who served his ward well. I think Maria, if elected, will carry on in that tradition and will make an excellent councillor."

Labour has announced former Canbury ward Councillor Chris Priest as their candidate.

He said: "I will be fighting this election to give voters in Tudor ward a real choice."

The Liberal Democrats are compromised by their continuing support for the current Conservative-led coalition Government."

Environmental activist Ryan Coley, 21, who has been named as the Green Party candidate, said: "I would work to protect business owners and ensure that any new developments meet the needs and wishes of residents."

UKIP has announced former Tolworth Junior School pupil and educational recruitment consultant Ben Roberts, 28, from Chessington, as its candidate.

The byelection will be the first time voters in Kingston return to the polls since May's local elections, when the Conservatives took Kingston for the first time in more than 20 years. It will take place on October 16.

A little moor action to tow away boats

Kingston Council has used a new bylaw to help it get rid of illegal boats moored on the Thames.

The council previously lacked authority to remove boats moored on public land, but a new power has now been provisionally approved.

The Idle Duck, a boat illegally moored in Tudor ward, was towed to a marina this month.

The boat will be sold after six months if unclaimed, and the sale will cover the cost of storage.

Councillor David Cunningham, lead member for environment and transport, said: "Although Kingston Council officers have been diligent, they have not had the positive direction from the previous administration that is required."

WORLD OF MISADVENTURES: Dragon Fury rollercoaster grinds to a halt Onlookers told to delete photos of ride rescue

REPORTER

jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk

Visitors to Chessington World of Adventures were told to delete mobile phone photos of thrill seekers trapped on a broken down rollercoaster.

The Dragon Fury rollercoaster ride ground to a halt for an hour on Sunday, September 21.

One visitor claimed they were "chased down" by security, then forced to delete mobile phone photos of the delay.

He said: "There were still people stuck on the ride having staff get them out on to platforms with safety harnesses."

"One man stuck on the ride was there having a fag."

"We were also chased down by security and forced to delete the photos otherwise we would have been removed from the park."

"They also had the police down to make us remove the photos."

Stuck on the ride: Photos of the evacuation

A theme park spokeswoman said guests were asked to delete photos due to privacy, but denied police were called.

She said: "Two members of our security team approached a small party of guests who were taking photos of our ride staff and guests during the evacuation."

"They were politely asked to delete these images as neither our staff nor the guests in question had given permission for their photos to be taken."

"The party agreed to do so of their own free will, and the matter was resolved."

"Police were not called to the resort as our staff handled this situation internally."

Two homes broken into on same night

Police have released a CCTV image of a man they wish to question in connection with two burglaries in New Malden on the same night.

Residents of a house in Arthur Road, New Malden, were sleeping upstairs when their home was broken into via the front door on Saturday, August 2.

Upon waking after 8.30am they discovered credit cards and electrical items were missing.

Police said one of the credit cards was later used to withdraw money in the Worcester Park area.

Another home was burgled in nearby Seaforth Avenue on the same night, between 2am and 7am.

Residents were again sleeping upstairs when someone broke in via the front door and got away with credit cards and other valuables.

One of the cards was used to withdraw money in the Worcester Park area, and also to book a minicab to Gipsy Hill.

Detective Constable Mike Bunn from Merton burglary squad, said: "These burglaries have left the victims in a state of fear knowing that someone had broken into their house while they were sleeping."

"We are very keen to speak

Public 'threatened with knife'

A man brandishing a knife threatened members of the public and a shopkeeper in Kingston at the weekend.

Police were called to Victoria Road on Saturday, September 20, to reports of a man threatening a resident with a knife shortly after 4pm.

Officers then received information about a man with a knife threatening members of the public nearby.

A shopkeeper in Hawks Road also reported an alleged knife-point robbery at his store where money was taken from his till.

No injuries were reported. A 17-year-old man has been arrested and bailed to report back to a police station in December.

Cigarette leads to robber

A bank robber who threatened staff with a knife has been jailed for three years.

Zhoa Wan, 29, of Sigrist Square, off Canbury Park Road in Kingston, admitted forcing cashiers to hand over nearly £2,000 cash at a bank in Hounslow in February.

He was sentenced at Kingston Crown Court on Monday.

Detective Constable Alex George, from the investigating squad, said: "This was a frightening ordeal for the staff who were threatened with a knife for Wan's financial gain."

"Our investigation quickly identified Wan as the person responsible."

"His prison sentence should be a warning: if you commit violent crime the consequences are severe."

Investigators found a CCTV image of Wan smoking a cigarette. They recovered the cigarette butt and found Wan's DNA on it. Officers also used CCTV to find out where the robber had been living.

Wan surrendered to police at Hounslow on February 22, 10 days after the robbery.

He was given a five-year restraining order banning him from Barclays bank in High Street.

Man jailed for sexual assault on teen girl

REPORTER

jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk

A man has been jailed for subjecting a teenager to a terrifying and prolonged sexual assault, during which he threatened to kill her.

Sherwan Amin, 20, of Coombes Road, Dagenham, attacked the girl in her home in New Malden last October.

The ordeal lasted a total of three hours and 20 minutes, Kingston Crown Court heard on Tuesday.

Prosecutor Oliver Renton told the court Amin held a knife to his victim's throat and said: "I want you to suffer your whole life."

He also told her: "I'm going to kill you."

When his victim bit him in an attempt to escape, Amin bit back – injuring the teen's arm and cheek.

She said in a statement: "Because of being attacked I feel unguarded and will not let people close to me again."

"I'm scared of this happening again."

"He has ruined my confidence and trust in other people."

The teen's A-level results fell by two or three grades in each

'Remorse': Sherwan Amin faces more than three years in prison subject from what was expected, Mr Renton said.

Defending, Christian Wasunna said Amin was on an "emotional rollercoaster" following the death of his grandmother, with whom he had a close relationship.

He added: "He is extremely remorseful about this."

"He is a man of previous good character and he knows that he has lost that now."

"He is determined to take steps to ensure he does not commit any offences like this again."

Amin returned to the victim's home the following day.

He smashed the front window and a TV with a hammer, and stole a laptop and a phone.

Amin admitted two counts of sexual assault on the day of his trial last month, and pleaded guilty to burglary in January.

Recorder Sarah Plaschkes QC sentenced him to a total of three years and 10 months in prison.

More room

More student flats are planned for Penrhyn Road in Kingston.

Developer Ensco wants to build 114 rooms – 36 studios and 78 in traditional "cluster" format – south of Kingston University's Penrhyn Road campus.

If approved, the block, ranging in height from two to seven storeys, will be the third to go up in the area in two years.

Advisers Jones Lang LaSalle said current private student housing provision was "meagre" and that there is a "great need" for more within the area.

The report said: "We believe that the market could comfortably support more than 6,000 purpose built beds."

The block would also include retail space on the ground floor.

Residents can tell Kingston Council their views on the plans until Friday, October 10.

A LIDL CHANGE: Councillors have granted Lidl permission to make three deliveries a day to their Chessington store. Originally, the chain could only make one each day to the Leatherhead Road site. Noise levels will be monitored for a year after the unanimous decision at last week's development control committee meeting.

CHARITY WALK: Organisers will celebrate the fifth anniversary of Surbiton farmers' market with a charity walk next month. The walk will take place in Richmond Park on October 5 at 11am, in support of the Kingston Carers' Network. For a sponsorship form, visit the market in Maple Road.

ENJOY A COFFEE: Tolworth library will host a free coffee morning next month, as part of the Enjoying Later Life Festival. The library, in the Broadway, is inviting the public in for a coffee and a chat about its services between 11am and noon on Sunday, October 7.

STEP INSIDE: Step behind the scenes at Kingston police station next month during an open day. The building in High Street will open its doors, from 11am to 3pm, on Sunday, October 5.

ADHD HELP: A dedicated group has been created to guide Kingston and Richmond's services for children with attention deficit and hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). The steering group is part of the joint Achieving for Children service. Parents with concerns can find out more by visiting facebook.com/adhdrichmond.

MASTER PLAN: Tesco unveils its latest proposals for the former Toby Jug site Homes, shops and open spaces

REPORTER

jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk

Tesco has revealed a "master plan" for the old Toby Jug site in Tolworth, including shops and community use areas.

The chain withdrew plans for a supermarket on the site earlier this year, and now hopes to build about 700 homes.

Planners will hold public meetings next month for residents to air their views.

Jon Collins, from architects Collado Collins, said: "We are developing proposals for a master plan that will create a sustainable and attractive place to live that will complement the existing neighbourhood."

"This will include a mixture of houses and apartments with a small number of shops, cafes and community uses arranged around two public spaces."

Liberal Democrat Tolworth and Hook Rise Councillor Vicki Harris said: "That is probably larger than a small village so you might need some shops.

"But on the other hand, the Broadway is only five minutes away. Tesco is going to do what it wants to do. It needs to make money out of that site."

Conservative parliamentary candidate James Berry said: "Any plan to develop significant housing on the Toby Jug site must include plans for a school and a community asset, such as a leisure centre, either on site or nearby. Tesco must look at the whole picture."

A spokesman for Tesco's planning consultants Spennhill said: "The former Government offices in Tolworth is one of the largest sites available for development in Kingston."

"As it is so well located next to a train station and close to Tolworth Broadway, it can and should make a vital contribution to meeting the royal borough's growing housing need."

Consultation meetings will be held on Wednesday, October 1, from 10am to 2pm, and on Thursday, October 2, from 3pm to 8pm, at the Tolworth Living Shop in Tolworth Broadway.

Visit formergovernmentoffices.tolworth.co.uk for more information.

HAIL TO THE ALE: The Best Bar None awards are back

Say cheers to your favourite town pub

CHIEF REPORTER
NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@
london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingston's best pubs, bars and clubs will be celebrated yet again.

The Best Bar None awards are back and town centre boozers will all be in the running for accolades such as best on the door and best staff member.

The awards are run by town centre managers Kingstonfirst and include two public vote categories – best behind the bar and best atmosphere.

Woody's has managed to nab best behind the bar for two years running, and last year O'Neill's won the best atmosphere prize.

Ros Morgan, chief executive at Kingstonfirst, said: "The Best Bar None awards recognise those who help to make Kingston a great place in which to socialise and relax.

"We have been delighted by the depth and quality of entries and the judges have some difficult choices to make.

"The pubs and clubs play a vital role both to the night time economy and vibrancy of Kingston, helping to make it the leading leisure destination in south-west London and we look forward to celebrating best practice in the industry."

Best atmosphere: Staff at O'Neill's in Kingston celebrate winning in 2013

The Best Bar None awards aim to recognise contributions made by responsible licensees promoting sensible drinking.

Last year Clarence Street's troubled venue Oceana was re-branded as Pryzm and entered into the awards – although it did not pick up any gongs.

This year Pryzm is due to host the awards ceremony on November 4.

'FOOT SOLUTIONS GOT ME BACK ON MY FEET'

Although officially retired as a Consultant Maxillofacial Prosthetist, Colin Haylock MBE still travels the world using his specialist life-changing skills to help rebuild people's faces.

However, following a motorcycle accident which left his left foot badly deformed, Colin's mobility was significantly restricted.

"I was really struggling," explains Colin, currently an honorary tutor at Guys Medical School. "Following the accident, my movement became painful and awkward and I had to drag my left foot sideways. The problem was accentuated during my travels when I was on my feet a lot of the time."

At first, Colin sought help from the usual channels, visiting casualty, a physiotherapist and even an orthoptist who prescribed rigid (and uncomfortable) half-sole inserts.

Unfortunately, nothing worked. Then Colin decided to visit Foot Solutions in Richmond.

"I'd been aware of the Foot Solutions free foot assessment offer for some time," adds Colin "then one Sunday morning I called in to the store. I'm so glad I did because that visit changed my life for the better."

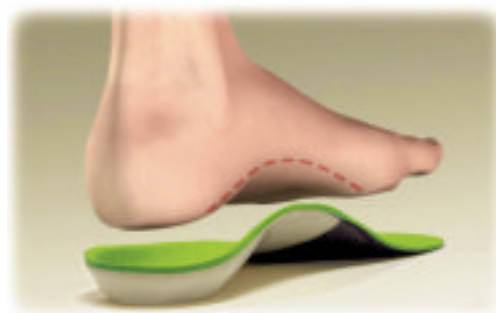

Colin was seen by Foot Solutions consultant Asif, who after taking a full case history, performed a series of tests and scans which identified in addition to the injury, a fallen arch which was exacerbating the problem.

"Asif was extremely patient and thorough," continues Colin, "he recommended custom-made arch supports and advised on suitable footwear, but applied no sales pressure."

Colin accepted Asif's recommendations and followed his detailed instructions on how to use the arch supports.

"I can now walk normally with virtually no discomfort," says a delighted Colin, "Foot Solutions is a very good product and I am happy to endorse it."

TESCO BLOW: Tesco has confirmed its plans for Tolworth are not affected by the news its stock plummeted more than £1.6bn this week. The chain admitted it had overstated its half-year profits by £250m and suspended four executives, including UK managing director Chris Bush. A spokeswoman said Tesco's proposed development of the Toby Jug site was "not impacted" by the news.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE: A man accused of killing a father-of-four from Chessington, who died after an attack outside Tesco in Hook Parade, will appear at the Old Bailey on Monday, November 3. Michael Broom, 49, was charged with manslaughter after Mark Haley, 51, died in June having spent two years in a coma.

POWER CUT: Almost 1,500 people in Chessington were left without power this week. UK Power Networks (UKPN) said a high voltage fault affected 1,472 people between 1.19am and 2.30am on Tuesday. One Facebook user reported the blackout stretched "as far as the eye can see". A UKPN spokesman said: "We would like to thank customers for their patience and apologise for any inconvenience caused."

LEADING AID: A woman from Chessington will lead a St John Ambulance team of first-aiders at next year's Rugby World Cup. Mary Huntingford, 62, combines her passion for rugby and first aid by devoting more than 300 hours of her own time each year volunteering at Twickenham Stadium. She is the charity's Kingston area manager and has led her team of 57 first aiders at Twickenham since 2008.

Bond star signing a licence to thrill door at Waterstone's in Kingston as Sir Roger Moore stopped by on the latest leg of his book-signing tour.

Last Man Standing: Tales from Tinseltown is a set of stories collected from Sir Roger's decades in show business.

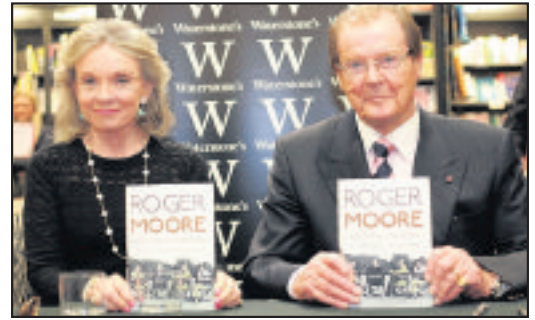

Frank Sinatra, Elizabeth Taylor, David Niven and many others all make appearances. The James Bond star claimed he wrote the book because "I had nothing else to do".

He said: "After the first book I did, I had a letter from a lady who said I was dirty and filthy and disgusting – and she would never see any of my films again.

"But, as I'm not likely to make any..."

Some of the tales are sure to raise an eyebrow or two, and there are perils to writing about such things, claimed Sir Roger.

Asked whether anything was deemed too risque to publish, he said: "I can't remember if I put the dirty ones or the clean ones in."

There are a fair few of each.

In the book's postscript, Sir Roger recounts a recent episode while having his passport renewed.

Faced with updating Mr Roger Moore to Sir Roger Moore on the document, a clerk asked: "Do you have any proof of that?"

Sir Roger writes he resisted the urge to reply: "Do you know who I am?"

Other moments that bring him back down to earth with a bump can happen at airports, after the rigmarole of passing through security and scanning.

He said: "Shoes off, jacket off – after all that they say 'Can we have a picture, can we have an autograph?'"

"I say 'You've got an x-ray – what more do you want?'"

The longest-serving Bond greeted fans in the Bontell Centre alongside his wife, Kristina.

Ahead of the signing, on September 13, he also paid tribute to his close friend, Richard Kiel, who died last week, aged 74.

The actor, who famously played villain Jaws, was a proud father and "an exceedingly intelligent man", said Sir Roger.

He said: "People presume that if somebody is physically different to other people, that they must be strange – but he was very bright."

Theatre boss denies ex-council leader enquired about work

Osbourne 'did not seek work at Rose'

CHIEF REPORTER

Rose Theatre chief executive Robert O'Dowd has denied disgraced former council leader Derek Osbourne enquired about working with the theatre upon his release from prison.

But it has been revealed the ex-Liberal Democrat did write a letter from jail to the theatre's chairman, in which he said he missed the Rose.

Several sources have contacted the Kingston Guardian in recent weeks claiming that Osbourne wrote to theatre bosses expressing an interest in working with the High Street venue once he had served his sentence.

Originally, Mr O'Dowd claimed to his knowledge neither himself or any member of staff had been contacted by Osbourne, adding: "Derek's only engagement with the Rose in the past was as a councillor."

"He is no longer a councillor so he would have no reason to engage with the Rose any more than a member of the public would."

But when the claims emerged

In jail: Convicted paedophile Derek Osbourne Deadlinepix KT79131

again this month, Mr O'Dowd admitted Osbourne had penned a letter to theatre chairman Anthony Simonds-Gooding in February, in response to a letter Mr Simonds-Gooding wrote to Osbourne in June 2013 following his arrest.

Mr O'Dowd said the letter was sent to Mr Simonds-Gooding's home address and did not express any wish to work with the Rose upon his release, although the convicted paedophile admits to missing the theatre.

Asked why he did not mention the letter sent to Mr Simonds-Gooding before, Mr O'Dowd said:

"I feel very strongly that this letter was not to the Rose nor anything to do with the Rose."

"It was and is a personal matter and letter."

He added even if Osbourne had contacted him requesting to work with the theatre, he would not have passed his disclosure and barring service checks (formerly CRB).

Mr Simonds-Gooding had not responded to the Kingston Guardian's attempts to contact him at the time of going to press.

Osbourne, 60, was sentenced to two years in prison for downloading and distributing thousands of images of children, animals and women being violently and sexually abused.

He had been an active supporter of the Rose and its youth theatre, and had led the council's attempts to restore its shattered child safeguarding reputation following 2012's damning Ofsted report.

New council leader Kevin Davis announced in May he would launch an inquiry into Osbourne's tenure, which is likely to investigate his involvement with the Rose.

Have a say to help ease schools crisis

Can I urge Kingston and Richmond residents to comment on two planning consultations in both boroughs that will help to alleviate the school places crisis in Kingston.

The first consultation is on the North Kingston development brief for the area of land between Sury Basin (ie, the gas works) and Sopwith Way, which includes plans for a new two-form-entry primary school.

The consultation has been running from September 15 for six weeks with details on the Kingston Council website (numbers 200155/846) as well as in printed form available from both Kingston and Tudor Libraries.

There are drop-in sessions for the public on Monday, September 29, and Tuesday, October 21, 5pm to 9pm, at the Market House in Market Place.

As a governor of Latchmere School, I am deeply aware of the shortfall in school places in our borough, particularly in north Kingston, as our school has had to provide a fifth "bulge" class this year to cope with the number of children requiring places, in addition to already expanding to permanently becoming four-form entry school.

The other planning consultation is by Richmond Council for two large sites on Ham Common - Cassel Hospital and St Michael's Convent - over whether to prioritise them for educational use.

Given their proximity to north Kingston, as well as proposals to redevelop Ham Close, which will create more housing and the 70-90 houses being planned for the site at Latchmere House, Richmond Council is taking pre-emptive action to prevent a shortfall of school places in their borough, which will also benefit north Kingston residents.

There is already the precedent of Kingston children attending

Grey Court - in Richmond - and no doubt when Kingston Academy opens on Richmond Road, vice versa.

To have your say on this consultation, head over to the Richmond Council website before the deadline of Monday, October 6.

At the same time, I would also point out that Kingston Council has for years allowed over-development of the borough without considering the need for supporting infrastructure such as schools, health services and traffic congestion.

Additionally, the Government has removed the link between councils and schools, so councils are no longer able to set schools where they are needed, they must be free schools.

The Green Party policy is to renew this link and stop the privatisation of our education system.

Religion on the fringes

The Religious Society of Friends has moved from a challenging position in the town centre to a place hidden away on the periphery.

This parallels other free churches that have surrendered their town centre sites to commerce, and moved to the fringe.

It is analogous to the marginalisation of religion.

On Sunday mornings Kingston is thronged with people seeking that which the moth corrupted and the thieves break through and steal.

Committed to more library space

There is no intention at all to close West Barnes library, which is a vibrant hub for the community in the centre of Motpur Park.

The public consultation is asking library users and residents to say what they want in the new library, which will open in 2017. Merton Council is committed to having more library space and a community hall in the new development.

The new building will be funded by residential development above the library. It has never been a question of a library or housing, as implied by your headline. I urge all your readers who use West Barnes library, to take part in the consultation at merton.gov.uk/consultations.

Safety and speed concerns

It was good to see that a letter regarding the poor quality of the road markings on St Mark's Hill has been listened too, not only on this road, but a number of other similar roads in the area.

Enforcement of speed limits may be on the cards too; recently there was police activity in Surbiton Crescent with a number of cars stopped, a number of which were directed into Palace Road, presumably to be interviewed by police.

Hard facts – hard truths

In reply to Rosemary Addington's letter I give hard facts and hard truths (The people of Gaza live in an outdoor prison, September 4).

Both Ms Addington and UN Secretary Ban Ki-Moon are Kafir, and being Kafir they cannot represent any Muslim view*, because "Kafir" means "unbeliever" in Arabic. Kafir was used by Arab slave-traders to describe native blacks in east Africa and the word was adopted into the Dutch Afrikaans language as "Kaffir", which means native.

Furthermore, Muslim society is male-orientated and male-dominated, so Muslim women are inferior to and expected to obey male members of the family, particularly in public or in public matters such as politics and voting, which is why the recent push in this country for postal voting (within the family home) is disturbing and anti-feminist.

Regarding the Palestinian Arabs, after the 1967 war, Yasser Arafat's PLO went out of its way to be as obnoxious as possible to its Arab Muslim neighbours by trying to destabilise Jordan, but Jordan pushed the PLO into Lebanon (Syria would not have the PLO), and then the PLO destabilised Lebanon and caused the civil war between Muslim Arabs and Christian Arabs, so that finally Arafat and the PLO were shipped to Gaddafi's Islamic state of Libya. After some years, Arafat disavowed PLO terrorism and was allowed to live as a political leader in Ramallah in the West Bank.

Unfortunately, my most enduring memory of Palestinian Arabs came immediately after the 9/11 mass murder of several thousand civilians, when UK television news showed the mass demonstrations of public celebration and jubilation in the streets of Ramallah.

Another memory comes from my only visit to Israel in 1968 as a young socialist non-Jew on a kibbutz (a collective farm) and picked apples for a month.

On my last evening in Tel Aviv I went to the cinema and saw an armed guard casually sitting at the door, so I asked why? And I was told he was there to stop anyone from throwing a hand-grenade into the audience of the cinema. Need I say more?

* Muslims eat with their right hand and use their left hand for the toilet.

Kafir are usually Haram because their eating habits (a) the eating of pork, and (b) the eating of food with the left hand, are both Haram (unclean, unlawful, forbidden by religion).

Building on success

Ashcroft Technology Academy is building on its strengths as an Ofsted "Outstanding School" with an even higher success rate in public examination results.

The sixth form has won the Wandsworth Pupil Achievement Award for 2012 and 2013 and eagerly awaits the announcement for 2014. 30 per cent of our A level grades were A*-A, 62 per cent A*-B and 88 per cent A*-C. BTEC students achieved 100 per cent Distinction* whilst IB students continue to impress with scores averaging 37 points including some outstanding individual performances; 43, 41, 41 and 40.

Typically 95 per cent of our students progress to university/art college including 43 per cent to Russell Group universities including Oxbridge, testimony to our students' hard work supported by a dedicated UCAS team, senior tutors as well as first class teaching and learning.

The International Baccalaureate Diploma Programme is a key part of the sixth form and is attracting much overseas as well as local interest from students in other schools.

Ashcroft Technology Academy is proud to be an IB World School, sharing a common philosophy with other "world schools" – a commitment to high quality, challenging, international education.

Ashcroft Sixth Form is housed in a modern sixth form centre where students can continue their education in a technology-rich, supportive, university-style environment with excellent resources. This, combined with high quality teaching and learning and an excellent progression rate to higher education, provides students with a first class learning environment for what is undoubtedly a life-shaping phase in young peoples' education.

A commitment to excellence

Southborough is a confident, dynamic school where students thrive academically and socially.

We are delighted with our 2014 GCSE results, which are our best ever! 63 per cent of all students achieved the threshold of 5A* to C (including English and maths) and 42 per cent achieved the EBacc (an A* to C grade in English, maths, two sciences, a humanity and a language).

We are also pleased that 21 per cent of all grades were awarded A or A*. In addition to this, 99 per cent achieved 5A* to G GCSE grades, we are a school where all students can achieve and succeed.

Our 2014 A level results were also very good: 32 per cent of all grades were awarded A*-A and 57 per cent A* to B. With these grades, our students progress on to a range of good universities.

We are committed to the high quality delivery of a curriculum designed with the talents of boys in mind. We were rated good by Ofsted in December 2013 and are close to being outstanding.

At Southborough, we value and nurture other achievements, as well as exam success. We are well known for the high quality of our pastoral care, which results in excellent behaviour and very positive attitudes to learning. Visit southborough.kingston.sch.uk

An inspiring environment

Now is the time for year 11 students to start thinking about their future. There are many options available, however, only a few consistently deliver enviable results and offer the choice of subjects and qualifications to rival Richmond upon Thames College.

For more than 35 years, Richmond upon Thames College, has been educating and training thousands of 16 to 18 year olds from across Richmond, London, Surrey and Berkshire. Today, the college is one of London's top performing colleges and around 3,000 students benefit from the college's breadth of curriculum and specialist support services within an respectful and safe environment.

The college offers a wide range of academic and technical vocational qualifications – with many subjects achieving 100 per cent pass rates. It is one of a handful of state providers in London to offer the academically challenging International Baccalaureate Diploma and this year's cohort of students achieved an outstanding 94 per cent pass rate compared to a global pass rate of 79 per cent.

The college is holding three open events on Saturday, October 11 (9.30am – 1pm), Wednesday, October 15 (5pm – 8pm) and Thursday, November 13 (5pm – 8pm).

Offering first class tutoring

Southern Tutors is very pleased that, due to its students' success rates in the 11 plus, GCSE and A level exams, it has expanded its Saturday 11 plus class, holiday courses, and the number of tutors who have registered with it so it can help students.

It has increased the numbers of courses and is running 11 plus intensive courses on Saturday mornings and during all school holidays except the Christmas break.

It has continued to recruit excellent teachers from both the state and private education sector.

Southern Tutors has won contracts with local schools in Epsom who have made use of its services. Exam results from privately tutored children were very pleasing this year.

It has found students have increased their predicted grades for GCSE and A level by having the expert help available from tutors, many of whom are from the top schools and universities in the country.

Jane Race, Southern Tutors managing director said: "I'm delighted that Southern Tutors is able to provide quality teachers for students and that our results have been so good. It is a credit to our tutors who have provided such good help and motivation for their students."

Emphasising importance of the arts and sport

Tiffin School offers a wide range of challenging learning opportunities for able boys.

As well as achieving outstanding examination results the school is committed to developing the community through leadership, responsibility and participation.

The school places an emphasis on a broad curriculum that encourages innovative approaches in independent learning. Sport is very strong at Tiffin and its specialisms in performing arts and languages also emphasise the importance of art, dance, drama, music and foreign language learning.

Investment in new facilities in the last few years has seen the development of a Learning Resource Centre, lecture theatre and a new multi-use games area, adding to the excellent sports facilities.

Further development of sixth form facilities will be completed by Christmas 2014.

Approximately 30 per cent of our sixth form students are new to the school, and Tiffin welcomes applicants for sixth form places from boys who will achieve good GCSEs.

URBAN EDGE

SEROXAT, SMIRNOFF, THC

● Laura Oldfield Ford; Stanley Picker Gallery, Kingston University, Knights Park; October 9 to November 29; stanleypickergallery.org

The suburb is the "new inner city". That is the premise of a new collection of work to be displayed at Kingston University's Stanley Picker Gallery, writes Jon Sharman.

Painter Laura Oldfield Ford's explorations of suburban south-west London after the riots of 2011 have uncovered a "fractured and complicated" region divided into zones of refuge, filled with frazzled bankers and zones of sacrifice, where call-centre and construction workers languish.

Oldfield Ford says: "I spend a lot of time walking around marginal areas, liminal territories."

"I take photos on my phone and I do recordings. I go back to my studio and I write a journal."

"I isolate certain pages from my journal – quite intense moments, haunted moments from my walk – and I make drawings based on that."

Some of those sketches become fully-fledged paintings like those on show this autumn.

The painter asks: "What happens when you're forced to spend hours immersed in stultifying work, split-shifts at McDonald's on a traffic island near Heathrow, living in a Travelodge in Sunbury working on the construction of some luxury development, or stuck in a call-centre in Croydon hassling people about loan repayments?"

Gallery director David Falkner says: "What I love about Laura's work is that although she has this channelled anger, it's channelled through traditional media."

"Her work has a very clear political agenda – she engages with a lot of what you might call the subcultures of an area."

"I think she knows the area a lot better than I do after the walks she has done."

Oldfield Ford adds: "It's an amazing opportunity, to be able to spend a whole year walking around and really investigating different territories, and then to be able to work in a studio and interpret all that, and make a new body of work."

"It's really exciting."

CREATURE CARE

There are many reasons why you might want a pet, and many potential benefits from owning. But before you take the plunge, make sure you do your research as they are a big responsibility, writes Rebecca Middleton.

Before you get any pet, there are a lot of points to consider, such as, how much will it cost, how will you look after it and what kind of pet will suit you and your family?

It is important to investigate thoroughly whether you should get a pet, and if so what type, but with so many resources out there, there is a lot of information available at your fingertips.

Check out the RSPCA and PDSA websites for tips on owning all kinds of animals.

The RSPCA claims owning a pet can be good for your health. It says dog or cat owners made fewer hospital visits, children brought up with pets have more stable immune systems and older people who regularly walk their dogs faster have better mobility.

Carl Houghton, one of the owners of Creature Company in the Broadway, Wimbledon, says it is important to think about what type of pet will suit you or your family.

Houghton says: "Do they want something intelligent or something to please the kids and keep them occupied?"

"Look at how much time you can spend with the pet. Some dogs need walking two or three times a day, but it varies with different breeds.

"Think about the pet's diet needs and the cost of vet bills – you can pay £400 for a rabbit x-ray."

For families with young children, Houghton would recommend a guinea pig or a rabbit, and for children around the age of 12 years, a hamster to teach them how to be responsible.

Pets can be a great source of companionship, as well as emotional support, and can improve people's social skills.

Walking a dog can be a great way of meeting other people, and even if you do not have a pooch of your own, there are websites where you can walk other people's dogs on a regular basis.

Pets, whether it is a dog, cat or something smaller, can help teach children responsibility and develop compassion and respect for other living things, according to the RSPCA.

Seek advice on owning a pet from your local vet before you buy an animal. That is the advice of Johnny Kriek, owner of Kriek and Gibson Veterinary Surgery in Banstead.

In terms of owning a dog or cat, Kriek says: "The first thing to do is research the breed. We see a lot of problems with people for example who have a border collie and do not have the time to keep them occupied."

Kriek urges potential pet owners to think about nutrition health care such as which inoculations or long term care a pet might need.

Whether it is a lizard, a cat or a dog, owning a pet could be an enjoyable experience for you and your family.

Pet plea: Owning a pet has many benefits, but humans should be aware of their furry friends' needs Deadlinepix EP81445

LONDON MOZART TRIO

TOP CLASS

Music lovers are in for a treat as three world-class musicians are coming to Thames Ditton.

The London Mozart Trio, made up of Colin Stone on piano, Krzysztof Smetana on violin, and Sagi Hartov on the cello are coming to Vera Fletcher Hall to perform some of the world's most famous music for a three piece.

They will play Mozart's E major Trio, Brahms' A major violin sonata, Beethoven's D major violin sonata, Schumann's papillons op.2 and Rachmaninov's Trio Elegique in G minor.

Artistic director at the Vera Fletcher Hall Joan Leifer said: "We are truly lucky to have this international trio of the highest calibre coming to use the hall. They perform regularly abroad and at leading venues such as the Wigmore Hall and are at the top of the tree in artistic talent."

British-born Colin Stone plays for BB3 and combines his performances with his work as Professor at the Royal Academy of Music.

Continuing the Vera Fletcher Hall tradition, there will be free admission for children under 16.

● Vera Fletcher Hall, 4 Embercourt Road, Thames Ditton; Friday, September 26, 8pm; £14, call the box office on 08448 848832, or Bradley+Brown, 50 High Street, Thames Ditton.

Have a disaster plan at the ready

When disaster strikes more women than men would grab the family photos before leaving the house.

That's according to specialist insurer Ecclesiastical which advises householders to have a disaster plan ready to action and know which items to take from the home in the case of a fire or flood.

The insurer asked more than 2,300 people what items they would save from their homes. The study assumed that other family members and pets were safe.

Most Women plumped for photographs (27 per cent) as their first priority while men chose important documents (24 per cent) followed by technology items such as laptops and phones (22 per cent).

More than half of women questioned (51 per cent) thought that their partner definitely or probably did not know which of their possessions to save.

Men had more confidence in their partners: for them the figure dropped to around a third (32 per cent).

Clare Pardy, Ecclesiastical's fine art and heritage development director, said: "The notion of having to leave your home suddenly while trying to save what items you can is something everyone dreads. That's why it's sensible to spend a little time thinking about how you'd respond and what you'd try to save."

"Our survey shows that women seem to think about this eventuality more than men and are better prepared."

Women believed more strongly that their partners would save their own possessions first before saving theirs.

Almost one third of women surveyed (31 per cent) felt that their partner would probably or definitely put saving their own possessions first compared with almost a quarter of men surveyed (24 per cent).

The survey comes as Ecclesiastical publishes a new disaster recovery guide for the owners of heritage properties.

Struggling to buy first home

Only the wealthiest of the next generation will be able to buy a home if current trends continue, warns the National Housing Federation, as a new report shows first-time buyers now have to pay, in real terms, 10 times the deposit needed in the early 1980s.

Its report Broken Market, Broken Dreams reveals first-time buyers today have to earn more, borrow more, stump up a larger deposit and rely more on family wealth than even a generation ago.

The report found:

❑ The average first-time buyer today needs a £30,000 deposit.

❑ First-time buyers have an average income of £36,500, compared to the average salary for first-time buyers in the 1980s of £20,000 (adjusted to account for inflation).

❑ A first-time buyer has to borrow 3.4 times their annual income on average, compared to first time buyers in 1979 who needed to borrow just 1.7 times their income.

❑ Two thirds of first-time buyers receive financial help from parents – a figure that has doubled in five years.

In separate polling by YouGov almost 80 per cent of people in England think it's harder to own a home now than it was for their parents' generation.

Landlords get online tax training

Landlords are being offered online training in tax matters from HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC).

The computer-based tutorials will make it easier for them to understand when and how to pay tax on property they have let out.

The training pack is part of HMRC's Let Property campaign, aimed at people renting out residential property who have not registered to pay tax, who have under-declared their earnings, or who have under-paid tax.

Laura Pollard, head of HMRC Campaigns, said: "This package has been developed to help landlords get their tax affairs right from day one. They can also use it to keep them on track in the future.

"Landlords who have failed to register with HMRC, or who have under-declared or under-paid tax risk being checked by HMRC. If they wait for that to happen, they won't be able to sort out their tax affairs under the best terms. If they are in any doubt, they should try the training and, if they think they need to bring their tax affairs up to date, they should contact us."

The bite-sized modules will explain to landlords:

- When and how property letting starts, and what to do
- The various types of property income – furnished, unfurnished, holiday lets, rent-a-room, the non resident landlord scheme – and how they are taxed
- The correct treatment of income and expenditure, both revenue and capital
- Tips on record-keeping

- Property disposal, capital gains and inheritance tax

- Tax return filing and paying dates – and when and how

- PAYE and VAT obligations

Details of the Let Property campaign can be seen here: www.gov.uk/let-property-campaign

The new tutorials can be seen here: www.hmrc.gov.uk/courses/syob2/letting

HMRC has also started writing to about 40,000 landlords about their tax. So far, more than 2,500 people renting out residential property have voluntarily contacted HMRC to put their tax affairs in order under the Let Property campaign

The return of the Viva

An all-new five-door entry-level model will be launched next summer.

The Viva will be the latest edition to Vauxhall's small car range joining the ADAM and the Corsa supermini.

Offering an attractive price point, the Viva will have a five-door body style with either four or five seats. Viva will be well specified and come in a range of trims and equipment levels.

The five-door model's name also pays homage to Vauxhall's original Viva, above, available from 1963 to 1979. More than 1.5 million Vivas were manufactured at Vauxhall's plant in Ellesmere Port, Cheshire.

Vauxhall says the new car will be "designed for modern, everyday life" and will "share the original's clean lines, durability and practicality".

Opel will use a different name to Viva.

STAR IN A CAR: 80s pop icon Nik Kershaw

Rattled by the roof rack

NIK Kershaw is the 80s pop star who stormed the charts with the likes of Wouldn't It Be Good, The Riddle and I Won't Let The Sun Go Down On Me. To read more about Nik go to www.nikkershaw.net or follow him on Twitter @NikKershaw

What was your first car?

Austin 1100. It cost £150. Drove it away to discover the head gasket had blown. Replacing it was my first ever attempt at car mechanics. Then I replaced the gearbox and had it nicked about two weeks later.

How many times did it take to pass your test?

Passed first time in a Fiat 128. My instructor's name was Elvis (I kid you not).

Who would be your ideal fantasy passenger and where would you go?

Gene Pitney. We'd go to Tulsa. It would take approximately 24 hrs.

What is your dream car?

1958 Porsche Speedster. I just love the look. In fact, not even too fussed about the real thing. Would happily go for a Chesil Motor Company replica.

How would you describe your driving style?

Confident without being aggressive, yet pretty careful and safe. I only hit stationary objects. Am particularly adept at reversing into skips. Crap at parking.

Tell me one driving anecdote from your past?

Back in the 70s when I was a starving musician, I had to do all my own work on my cars. One particular car (Cortina MKII) developed a rattle that sounded like it was the back axle. So I changed one of the half shafts (not a small job). Still rattled. I changed the other. Still rattled. I changed the differential. Still rattled. In despair I took it to the local mechanic who drove it round the block and came back with a big smile on his face. "Fixed it," he said.

"What was it?" I said.

"The roof rack was loose," he said.

What are you listening to?

"Sparks" by Imogen Heap. I worked with her when she first came out of the Brits school back in the 90s and have followed her career with awe ever since. She has many imitators, but still manages to remain totally unique.

What do you drive now?

Volvo XC90 2.5 Diesel and a BMW 118i Diesel. We've been known to go camping and my wife likes to bring most of the contents of our house with us. That's where the Volvo comes in. The BMW is 35 quid a year road tax. Nuff said.

Going weak at the knees

This is the new Mercedes-AMG GT, designed to put the frighteners on Porsche and Jaguar.

On looks alone it's enough to make one go weak at the knees.

Developed entirely by AMG, this V8-powered behemoth is no sheep in wolf's clothing.

With two powerplants - the 462bhp GT and 510bhp GTS - the car is capable of hitting nought to 62mph in 3.8 seconds in its quickest guise and can go on to a top speed of 193mph.

Allied to a seven-speed dual clutch gearbox, it returns a best of 30.4mpg and puts out 216g/km of CO2. Mercedes say the car is a practical beast too with a 350 litre boot.

"With the new Mercedes-AMG GT, we are venturing out into a challenging sports car segment with its top-class competitive field.

This is an incentive and motivation for us at the same time to prove to sports car enthusiasts around the world the kind of performance that AMG is capable of," said Mercedes' development chief Prof Dr Thomas Weber.

Arriving in the UK in April next year, prices are due to be announced next month.

Conditions of acceptance of advertisements

General

- The following conditions apply to the placing of an order for insertion of advertisements in Newsquest Media Group ("Newsquest") printed or electronic publications. Each order will form a separate agreement and English law will apply. Any change to these conditions must be agreed by us in writing (which means by exchange of letter, fax or email). An "advertiser" means any person or organisation placing an advertisement on their own account or on behalf of another.

Contents

- The advertiser confirms that the advertisement complies with all applicable legislation, regulations and codes of practice, including the codes supervised by the Advertising Standards Authority. We may reject or require changes to any advertisement so as to comply with legal or moral obligations placed on us or the advertiser; to avoid infringing the rights of a third party or any relevant code of practice; or to meet our published production and quality specifications.
- The advertiser further confirms that:
 - the publication of the advertisement will not breach any contract, infringe the copyright, trademark or other right of any third party and is not libelous of any person;
 - all licences and consents from third parties necessary for the publication of the advertisement have been obtained and paid for, including consent from living persons identified in copy or pictures (photographic or otherwise);
 - in respect of an investment advertisement, the contents have been approved by, or the advertiser is, and authorised person within the meaning of the Financial Services Act 1986 as amended or the advertisement is otherwise permitted under that Act.

Payment

- All advertisements must be paid for in full at the time of booking unless credit has been agreed. The price shall be the amount fixed by our published rate card on the date of acceptance of the order plus VAT where applicable. For non-credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of any future advertisements if payment is not made in accordance with our payment terms. For credit advertisers, interest will be charged on late payments at the rate of 3% above the Bank of England's base lending rate from the date payment is due together with the administration costs of collecting an overdue debt.

- By placing an order with us, an advertising agency confirms that it contracts as principal with full authority from its client in all matters connected with the order and is responsible for all payments due. We will only accept advertisements from advertising agencies if they are recognised by us.

- We will try to give notice of increases, but we reserve the right to change our advertising rates at any time. This will not affect contracts, including any fixed term agreement for a series of advertisements.

Box numbers

- We will use reasonable efforts to forward replies to box numbers within a reasonable time, but we are not responsible for any failure or delay caused by circumstances beyond our reasonable control, or for any losses relating to an advertiser's business or any loss that is not reasonably foreseeable by both parties.

Cancellation

- We will notify the advertiser of the latest time that orders can be cancelled (the "booking" deadline) and the latest time that advertising copy can be received by us ("the copy deadline"). An advertiser may cancel up until copy deadline and we will make reasonable efforts to re-sell the space, but the advertiser will be liable for the full price if the space is not sold and we will reclaim any unearned volume-based discount. Private advertisers booking by telephone or online may cancel in accordance with relevant law, but no refund shall be available after the copy deadline unless cancellation is due to our negligence. If the copy is not received by the copy deadline, we will not be liable if the advertisement does not appear, but the advertiser will remain liable to make full payment for the price of the advertisement.

- We will try to satisfy an advertiser's request regarding the positioning of an advertisement, but no guarantee of position can be given unless agreed by us and paid for at the rate then current.

Errors

- We are not liable for any error, misprint or non-appearance of an advertisement unless caused by our negligence, in which case the advertiser will be entitled to a re-insertion or proportionate refund. The advertiser is solely responsible for checking the advertisement on each insertion and ordering correction where necessary. Except where we have been negligent, we shall not be liable for an error or misprint that, in our reasonable opinion, does not materially detract from the advertisement. We shall not be liable in any case for losses relating to any business or public fund-raising for the advertiser, such as lost customers, revenue or profit.

Copyright

- Advertisements are accepted on condition that we have the right to publish them online as well as in any booked titles. The copyright in work or material we contribute to or re-work for an advertisement belongs to us. We will dispose of advertiser's copy, artwork, photographs or other materials after six months unless collected.

General

- We shall not be liable if our publishing activities are restricted or prevented by any law, act or event beyond our reasonable control (including, for example, industrial dispute). In such case, the advertiser shall accept publication when available or otherwise may cancel the order by written notice and pay only for work done and materials used.
- We will use the advertiser's details for internal administration. Unless the advertiser tells us not to in writing at any time, we may also share details with other Newsquest companies or with carefully selected third parties, who may send information about goods and services.
- The advertiser will be liable to pay us for all costs, losses, expenses and damages of any kind suffered or incurred by us as a result of legal claims or actions, actual or threatened, arising from the advertiser's breach of these conditions or the publications of the advertisement, unless caused by our own negligent act or failure.
- We may cancel the order at any time if the advertiser breaches these conditions and the breach is not capable of remedy or it continues for seven days after we have given written notice of it, or if we reasonably believe the advertiser is unable to pay debts or the advertiser goes or threatens to go out of business.

Method of payment

We will be pleased to accept your payment by any of the following methods: • CHEQUE - Made payable to NEWSQUEST (LONDON) LTD. • BACS - Electronic Bank Transfer • CASH - Paid to one of our Branch Offices. • CREDIT/DEBIT CARD - Please phone to pay by Visa/Mastercard/Switch/Delta

Debut delight for Surbiton's King

New Zealand international Julia King, right, got her Surbiton career off to the best possible start with a goal in Saturday's 4-0 triumph at the University of Birmingham.

King, who claimed a league winners medal in New Zealand with Auckland seven days earlier, smashed the ball home in the 24th minute to put Surbiton two goals up after Georgie Twigg had opened the scoring.

Twigg added a third and Jo Hunter, with her first goal for the club since arriving in the summer, the fourth.

CUP MAGIC: FA Cup run may derail Ks, but it'll be well worth it

Harps wary of cup glory

SPORTS EDITOR
STUART AMOS

samos@
london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingstonian assistant Graham Harper knows the FA Cup challenge his side faces on Saturday – because he has been there himself.

Ks travel to Essex to take on Ryman Division One North side Romford on Saturday in the second qualifying round.

Harper reached the FA Cup first round proper as a player with Hampton & Richmond Borough and finished on the losing side at the hands of Dagenham & Redbridge.

Hampton pushed the League Two Daggers all the way before eventually succumbing 2-0 at the Beveree in 2007, and Harper has warned Romford will be doing all they can to force an upset.

"We had the better of Dagenham for 70 minutes and could have actually won the game, but they had that bit extra," he said.

"Romford will be doing everything to cause an upset like we tried against Dagenham.

"They will see it as a chance to cause a shock. I remember being on that side of things with Hampton and it is not nice."

If Ks avoid the banana skin they will have collected £27,500 from the FA Cup prize fund this term and will stand two wins from the first round and a possible £27,500 bounty.

But Harper, who saw Saturday's trip to Witham Town surprisingly postponed due to a waterlogged pitch, is mindful of the impact it may have on the club's fixture list.

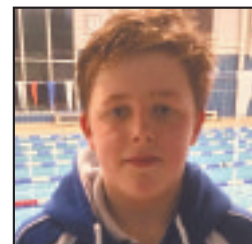

"This game is massive for us. A cup run is a real money spinner and brings a buzz around the place with the added attention it gets," he added.

"We have to take it one game at a time because if you look too far ahead you come unstuck."

"If we get on a run we are going to be playing catch up. We are already three games behind in the league. That can strain our small squad."

Up for it: Ks defender Alan Inns leaps for the ball during Hampton & Richmond Borough's FA Cup first round defeat to Dagenham & Redbridge

Five star: Kingston Royals swimmer Dylan Conway set five new club records on Sunday

Dylan not dreaming

Kingston Royals youngster Dylan Conway was in dream-land after setting five new club records at the weekend.

Conway set new bests in the U14s 200m backstroke, 50m breaststroke, 200m breaststroke, 200m butterfly and 200m individual medley in Kingston's sprint distance club championships at the Xcel leisure centre on Sunday.

Twenty-two athletes set 42 new club best times, with Kathryn Carmichael (U9 50m backstroke, 200m backstroke, 50m butterfly and 200m individual medley), and Yasmine Hammerlaine (U11 50m backstroke, 50m freestyle, 50m butterfly and 100m individual medley) claiming four records each.

Ellis Alexopoulos (U14 50m, 100m and 200m backstroke) set three new records and Finn Harman claimed new bests in the U16 50m freestyle, 100m freestyle, 50m backstroke and 50m butterfly events.

HOME BAKER: New Malden's KCS Old Boys, 26-10 losers at London Cornish, below, on Saturday, will hope to preserve their unbeaten home record when they host Weybridge Vandals in London Division Two South West on Saturday, while Old Tiffinians will go for a third successive London Three South West triumph when Andover visit East Molesey after Saturday's 34-23 win at Old Tonbridgians. Kingston, who avoided Surrey Division One relegation on the final day last season, open the new campaign with the visit of Chipstead on Saturday.

NEW BEST: Kingston & Polytechnic Harrier Mollie O'Sullivan set a new personal best of 18 minutes 43 seconds to be the first woman home at Saturday's Bushy Park parkrun. Tara Telkovsky triumphed in 17:06.

Play ball: Kingston's Marcus Giles has been identified as a potential international table tennis champion of the future

Trevor Parsons Photography

Giles has sights on summit

Kingston's Marcus Giles is on the pathway to international success says one of England's leading table tennis coaches, writes Stuart Amos.

The Hollyfield School student was celebrating this week after being named in the performance group for Table Tennis England's 28-strong England Youth squad.

The 15-year-old was selected after skill and fitness examinations of all players who applied to join the squad at an assessment day at the National Sports Centre in Lilleshall earlier this month.

Giles, who has a practice table at his home in Alfred Road, has committed to a programme of 10 national training camps designed to prepare him for life in the senior international set-up.

And national talent development coach Matt Stanforth reckons it is a major step for his table tennis career.

"The standard of the players on the assessment day was very high and it was clear everyone had been working hard both on and off the table to give themselves the best chance to be selected," he said.

"The programme allows us to not only work with the players more, but to also work closely with the players' local coaches who are absolutely integral to their development.

"Only together can we be successful and we hope this program will allow us to successfully prepare players for future senior international success."

Easy as one, two, three: (Clockwise from above) Maz Bettache fires past Tooting & Mitcham keeper Paul Smith, before turning to celebrate with Lee Hall and the rest of his Corinthian Casuals team-mates

Pictures: Stuart Tree

Matt reads riot act

Maz Bettache struck in the second half to secure a point for Corinthian Casuals on Saturday, but boss Matt Howard was far from pleased.

Bettache levelled Dan Summers' opener for Tooting &

Mitcham United at King George's Field.

"If we think we can just coast through games, then Luke [Garrard] and I let them know in no uncertain terms that's not good enough," he said.

On target: Matt Daly in action at Southgate Tim Reder

Surbiton far from finding form

Surbiton hot shot Matt Daly admitted his side was not at its best, despite maintaining a 100 per cent winning start to the new season at Southgate on Saturday, writes Sean Cotter.

Beijing and London Olympian Daly, last season's leading scorer in the MHL Premier Division struck twice to help secure a 3-1 triumph in north London where Alan Forsyth made the game safe in the dying moments of the match.

It backed up an opening day triumph by the same score over Reading last week and Kingston Grammar School assistant director of sport Daly reckoned head coach Todd Williams' men had done it the hard way.

"That was certainly not the free-flowing attacking performance we were aiming for," said the former Team GB international.

"But we improved our momentum to dig out victory in the final 10 minutes for a second weekend running."

Surbiton's men, fourth in the fledgling table, face defending Championship winners and league leaders Beeston – who the women also entertain (KO noon) – in a Premier Division double-header at Sugden Road on Saturday (KO 2.30pm).
